ERASMUS project 21st century skills for 21st century needs.

- A questionnaire before the first teacher training course.

In order to develop and adapt the seminars to the participants of this ERASMUS project Nord University would like to perform a survey addressing the core ideas of the project and the pedagogical implementation of the 21st century skills. We are grateful if you make a brief comment on the questions below.

1. With regards to your everyday teaching, describe the teaching methods and strategies you emphasize on in teaching students (in general).
2. Are there any areas in teaching (methods and strategies) you would like to use more or develop further?
3. What types of learning environments do you usually use in your everyday teaching?
4. The ERASMUS project is a project on the 21st Century Skills. The core skills are critical thinking, communication, creativity, collaboration, character and citizenship.
 - a. In overall, what are your thoughts about these skills?
 - b. Are these skills something that you are aware of or emphasize on developing in your everyday teaching?
 - c. Pedagogical implementation of 21st century skills. How do you teach 21st century skills/how do you think you should teach 21st century skills (how are the 21st century skills part of current teaching)?
